DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-35 are pending in the instant application.

Claim 33 is subject to restriction as detailed below:

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

The inventions are distinct, each from the other, because of the following reasons:

Claim 33 is subject to restriction since it is not considered to be a proper genus/Markush. See MPEP 803.02 - PRACTICE RE MARKUSH-TYPE CLAIMS - If the members of the Markush group are sufficiently few in number or so closely related that a search and examination of the entire claim can be made without serious burden, the examiner must examine all the members of the Markush group in the claim on the merits, even though they are directed to independent and distinct inventions. In such a case, the examiner will not follow the procedure described below and will not require restriction. Since the decisions in In re Weber, 580 F.2d 455, 198 USPQ 328 (CCPA 1978) and In re Haas, 580 F.2d 461, 198 USPQ 334 (CCPA 1978), it is improper for the Office to refuse to examine that which applicants regard as their invention, unless the subject matter in a claim lacks unity of invention. In re Harnish, 631 F.2d 716, 206 USPQ 300 (CCPA 1980); and Ex parte Hozumi, 3 USPQ2d 1059 (Bd. Pat. App. & Int. 1984). Broadly, unity of invention exists where compounds included within a Markush group (1) share a common utility, and (2) share a substantial structural feature disclosed as being essential to that utility.

Claim 33 specifically claims a chemically synthesized double stranded short interfering nucleic acid (siNA) that direct the cleavage of a NOGO receptor via RNA interference, wherein the siNA comprises any of SEQ ID NOs: 1-320. Although the siNA sequences claimed each cleave a NOGO receptor via RNA interference, the instant the siNA sequences are considered to be unrelated, since each siNA sequence claimed is structurally and functionally independent and distinct for the following reasons: each siNA sequence has a unique nucleotide sequence (per Applicant's Tables 2 and 3 in the instant specification). As such the Markush/genus of siNA sequences in claim 33 is not considered to constitute a proper genus, and is therefore subject to restriction. Furthermore, a search of more than one (1) of the siNA claimed in claim 33 presents an undue burden on the Patent and Trademark Office due to the complex nature of the search and corresponding examination of more than one (1) of the claimed siNA sequences. In view of the foregoing, one (1) siNA sequence is considered to be a reasonable number of sequences for examination. Accordingly, Applicants are required to elect one (1) siNA sequence (i.e. SEQ ID NO.) from claim 33. Note that this is not a species election but a restriction of distinct and independent inventions: unique and structurally distinct nucleotide sequences.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 1635

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(I).
